

Oh well! I appeal here to the judgement of those who read me. I appeal to the sentiment in the heart of every son of Adam. Was I guilty, criminal, because a gross error had assigned me a place in the world which should not have been mine?