

Of course, I saw it well, the future was dark! Sooner or later I would have to break with a way of life which was no longer mine. But, alas! How to get out of that awful maze? Where to find the strength to declare to the world that I usurped a place, a title which divine and human laws forbade me? It was enough to trouble a mind more solid than mine.